Tamil Nadu top choice for pursuing higher education

Chennai, June 22: CollegeDekho, India's largest higher education ecosystem, today unveiled its inaugural HEART (Higher Education Analytics and Regional Trends) report for India, offering a comprehensive analysis of the current trends, preferences, and dynamics shaping higher education in India. This comes at a time when the country is witnessing a pivotal transformation in its education sector, driven by digitalization, demographic shifts, and evolving economic landscapes.

As India aspires to become a top three economy globally, the nation's higher education system must be the fuel for that dream. Ensuring equitable distribution of colleges and universities is crucial for this vision to come alive. Despite 11 million students enrolling in colleges annually, India continues to grapple with a Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) of 28.3% in higher education. Mental health concerns remain to be an alarming issue as students across the nation still face heightened anxiety due to lack of professional guidance for college selection and choosing career paths.

Commenting on the report launch, Ruchir Arora, CEO and Co-Founder of CollegeDekho said "The HEART report originates from the core of CollegeDekho's vision to empower the future of India's youth by providing a stable and end-to-end support system for higher educational needs. With over 52.4% internet penetration benefiting more than 750 million Indians, digital empowerment is transforming access to college guidance for higher education. We are privileged to serve the nation through our discovery, guidance, enrolment, and learning ecosystem. Our efforts are directed towards bridging the gap between aspirations and opportunities. The report explores trends that could help shape policies and education. Our goal is to unlock the full potential of India's youth and contribute to a brighter tomorrow by being a data and tech-driven catalyst of change."

Why is Ram Temple in Ayodhya shedding tears from roof?

We all should understand that we cannot please God with bribes or pretense. God will be pleased with anyone who is a good human being and does the least harm to the world at large. Rabindranath Tagore said, "Open thine eyes and see thy God is not before thee! He is there where the tiller is tilling the hard ground and where the path-maker is breaking stones. He is with them in the sun and in the shower, and his garment is covered with dust." All the politicians missed this point and enacted dramas to please God. God is not pleased but is giving a sound lesson to these hypocrites. God Ram is now opening the eyes of those who are obsessed with power. The rainy season has commenced, so is the test time for politics. As heavy rain lashes Ayodhya and showers fall on the Shikhara of Sri Ram Kshetra in Ayodhya, the roof of the sanctum sanctorum (garbha griha) had water leaking through it, according to the chief priest of the temple. Ram temple chief priest Acharya Satyendra Das expressed shock and said that very qualified expert engineers had constructed the temple, but none of them could imagine that water would drip from the roof. The temple, which was constructed at a cost of Rs. 1800 crores, is experiencing water seepage from the top. On the night of June 22, heavy rains reportedly caused severe waterlogging on the Rampath Road and its adjoining streets. Sewer water reportedly infiltrated homes in the vicinity, while sections of Rampath Road and other recently built roads in Ayodhya caved in certain areas. The inhabitants of the holy city experienced tough times for at least three days. The worst incident is that a 20-meter-long boundary wall of the newly installed Ayodhya railway station collapsed. The opposition calls it "corruption model.". Whatever the reason, the mess in Ayodhya is due to the failure of the Living conditions of the poor a few months before the Ram Temple inauguration. Has it improved? Photo by VVS

UP government. I visited Ayodhya a few months before the inauguration of the Ram temple and saw how the poor people are suffering without shelter and live on the banks of the Sarayu River. There are more than six temples associated with Ram and Dasaratha, which are in a very bad and sad condition. At least now, the UP government should take the initiative and make Ayodhya a truly smart and sacred city. It is necessary, as thousands of people will visit the holy city during the course of the year. Television and media coverage are not showing what Ayodhya truly is. Ayodhya requires a thorough and true change in all directions.

Indo-US workshop on new technique in screening nuclear radiation

Chennai, June 26: A three day Indo US workshop on 'Biomarkers in radiation exposure' that began at Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research here today discussed emerging promising tools for screening affected people during a nuclear event. Inaugurating it Dr. Guy Garty, Director, Radiological Research Accelerator Facility and Associate Professor of Radiation Oncology, Columbia University said that currently even large cytogenetic laboratory networks can only analyse some hundreds of samples

a day. The Columbia centre has developed a miniaturised and automated blood based biodosimetry assays that can be performed on 96 well plates using robotic platforms. By leveraging existing commercial High Throughput cellular Screening (HTS) platforms for biodosimetry which exist in many countries, thousands of samples can be analysed every day. During nuclear events many people not exposed to radiation could also rush and block hospitals, rendering treatment to the really exposed people difficult. To help triage a large number of people during such situations this centre has developed a rapid yes/no tests similar to COVID tests and is awaiting FDA approval. These tests cannot determine dose, but can be used to screen out those who were not exposed reducing the required capacity for precise biodosimetry testing, he added. Speaking on the occasion Prof. P. Venkatachalam, Head Human Genetics and convener of the workshop said SRIHER as the docimetry centre for IGCAR, has inbuilt facilities to test new techniques and the SPARK (Gol's scheme for promotion of academic and research) workshop attended by 108 participants from 20 different organisations across the country will help spread this knowledge and capacity. Dr. Uma Sekar, Vice Chancellor SRIHER said this workshop will promote emergency preparedness by training people needed to handle nuclear events. Prof. Venkat Sai, Radiology and Imaging Sciences and Dr. Sudha Warriar, Principal, faculty of biomedical sciences and technology were among those who participated in the event.
